CONGRESS APPROVES 13 OF 198 LEGISLATIVE REQUESTS

Congress as of May 27 approved 13 or 6.6 percent of President Eisenhower's 198 legislative requests.

This 6.6 percent approval figure compares with the 13.7 percent score on the President's program at about the same stage -- May 8, 1955 -- of the first session of the 84th Congress (1955) when 25 of 183 legislative requests were approved.

Seventy-seven of Mr. Eisenhower's 198 legislative requests made in 1957 are old ones while the rest are new. Major repeats on his list include Federal aid for school construction, greater protection of such civil rights as voting and statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

The President's 198 legislative requests made to the 85th Congress so far were derived by analyzing everything the President wrote or said. Congressional Quarterly included only those legislative requests clearly made by the President.

Here is the status of all those 198 requests as of May 26. The percentage following each listing shows what percent it comprises of all the Presidential requests.

- 13 requests have been finally approved by the House and Senate and are either law or awaiting the President's signature (6.6 percent).
- 16 requests have passed either the House or Senate but not both (8.08 percent).
- 74 requests have undergone committee hearings and await further action (37.37 percent).
- 7 requests have been reported from committee to the floor but have not come up for a vote in either the House or Senate (3.53 percent).
- 7 requests have been rejected in either committee or on the floor but can be brought up again (3.53 percent).
- 81 requests have received no action at all in either the House or Senate (40.90 percent).

Opening Usually Slow

Congressional legislative action usually is slow during the first session of a Congress. Bills introduced in 1957 will stay alive through 1958, the second session of the 85th Congress.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D Texas) April 30 said he had asked all Congressional committee chairmen to review President Eisenhower's legislative program and have their committees vote all the requests up or down. (Weekly Report, p. 531)

The President at his May 22 news conference said he would fight for his legislative program "and never rest until the United States gets what I believe...to be necessary for the operation of this Government." In answer to whether he was satisfied with progress on his legislative program, Mr. Eisenhower said: "I have learned that progress in Congress is a very spotty thing. It goes along and there is nothing done for a long time and suddenly there is a great burst of energy and you are signing bills almost faster than you can write."

The year-end Eisenhower legislative batting averages in the Republican-led 83rd Congress (1953-54) and the Democratic led 84th Congress (1955-56):

Boxscore Ground Rules

Only specific requests for legislative action submitted to Congress by the President were tabulated for the Boxscore. Excluded from the list of legislative requests were proposals advocated by officials of the executive branch, but not specifically by the President; measures that the President endorsed but did not request; suggestions that Congress consider or study particular topics, if no legislative action was requested; nominations.

Almost all appropriation requests were excluded because they are a yearly occurrence and provide the funds necessary to carry out regular functions of the Government. But CQ included several appropriation requests the President designated at key points of certain programs, and which were submitted in special messages (rather than in the budget).

Because requests for approval of treaties carry over from one Congress to the next, CQ listed all unratified treaties sent to the Senate by Mr. Eisenhower from 1953 on.

The number of requests is a fair, but necessarily somewhat arbitrary, count of the Presidential proposals. Requests can be totaled in many ways. Though not all the President's proposals were equally important, CQ makes no attempt to weigh them. But a rough, automatic weighting results from major requests usually having several points.

Congress does not always vote "yes" or "no" on a Presidential proposal. CQ carefully evaluates compromises to determine if the result is closer to approval or to rejection of the President's request.

CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY'S EISENHOWER BOXSCORE AS OF MAY 26

Following is a list of President Eisenhower's 1957 legislative requests to Congress and the action taken on them through May 26. The symbol in parentheses following each request indicates the message in which it was made. An explanation of the symbols appears in the box on the preceding page. Treaty requests are followed by the date the treaty was sent to the Senate.

Committee Roundup

RADIOACTIVE FALLOUT

COMMITTEE -- Joint Atomic Energy, Special Subcommittee on Radiation.

BEGAN HEARINGS -- On the nature of radioactive fallout and its effects on man.

TESTIMONY -- May 27 -- Dr. Charles L. Dunham, head of the Atomic Energy Commission's biology and medicine division, said development of nuclear energy and production of radioactive materials were "inseparable." "To say that we will tolerate no increase in exposure to radiation is equivalent to saying that we will make no use of nuclear energy," he said. Dunham said 300-500 scientists, either within the AEC or under contract to it, currently were devoting full time to study of radiation hazards.

Dr. Alvin C. Graves, director of the AEC's weapons testing program, said "we have agreed that we cannot produce an absolutely clean weapon" without radioactive fallout. But there could be degrees of cleanliness, Graves said, depending upon the design of the weapon and where it was exploded.

Dr. Mark Mills of the University of California Radiation Laboratory said scientists estimated atomic power from fission might be used to produce electricity commercially at prices competing with conventional power in the 1970s.

May 28 -- Dr. Lester Machta, in charge of Weather Bureau fallout research, said the tumor-causing strontium-90 produced by H-bomb blasts sought out the heavily populated north temperate zone of the earth. Told his statement disagreed with one by AEC Commissioner Willard F. Libby that fallout was almost world-wide, Machta said his information was supported by still secret facts obtained within the past few weeks.

Charles K. Shafer, Weather Bureau meteorologist assigned to the Federal Civil Defense Administration, said by 1960 it would be "within enemy capabilities" to blast the United States with H-bombs equivalent to 2.5 billion tons of TNT, inflicting a death toll of approximately 82 million. Half the deaths would be caused by radiation, half by blast and burns, Shafer said. In addition, he said there would be 24 million surviving casualties and 60 million relatively uninjured people suffering "some radiation effects."

Dr. Lyle T. Alexander of the Department of Agriculture said there would be an accumulative increase of radioactive materials in the soil if weapons tests continued. He suggested "alterations of food distribution patterns" to counteract strontium intake, with milk and vegetables obtained from uncontaminated areas and use of contaminated regions to grow foods contributing little calcium to the body.

May 29 -- Merrill Eisenbud, manager of the AEC's New York operations office, said milk sample tests since 1954 showed a tenfold increase in strontium-90. But compared with the natural radioactivity in all milk, he said, the strontium content was so small delicate chemical methods were needed to show it. Eisenbud said he was "not at all apprehensive" of what continued bomb testing at the current rate would do to humanity.

NIAGARA POWER DEVELOPMENT

COMMITTEE -- Senate Public Works, Flood Control, Rivers and Harbors Subcommittee.

ACTION -- May 28 unanimously approved a clean bill to authorize the New York State Power Authority to build a $600 million power project at Niagara Falls. The measure approved by the Subcommittee was a compromise between a bill (S 512) introduced by Sen. Joseph S. Clark (D Pa.) and one (S 1037) sponsored by Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R N.Y.) and Irving M. Ives (R N.Y.). (Weekly Report, p. 484)

Under the Subcommittee bill, one-half of the power generated by the project would be subject to full Federal preference -- that is, rural electric cooperatives, municipally owned electric systems and the like would have first call on that amount of energy. Twenty percent of the amount reserved for preference users, or 10 percent of the total project yield, would be available for use within "economic transmission distance" in neighboring states, if the states took appropriate action to obtain the power.

Chairman Robert S. Kerr (D Okla.) said the Niagara Mohawk Power Co., a private utility, would be allocated 445,000 kilowatts of the project's estimated two-million kilowatt yield. He said the Defense Department had indicated it would "put its finger" on approximately 300,000 kilowatts of project power for use in defense plants.

MUTUAL SECURITY -- HOUSE

COMMITTEE -- House Foreign Affairs, sitting as Committee of the Whole on International Organizations and Movements.

HELD HEARINGS -- On the Mutual Security program.

TESTIMONY -- May 28 -- Religious spokesmen generally endorsed the non-military aspects of the foreign aid program. The Rev. Dr. Ralph W. Sockman, speaking for the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and the Board of World Peace of the Methodist Church, supported "the economic aid legislation substantially as it has been presented by President Eisenhower."

Rabbi Abraham J. Feldman, president of the Synagogue Council of America, endorsed "in principle the proposals for an enlarged foreign aid program" requested by the President. But he said "increasing reliance on military might alone...constitutes a threat to peace."

The Rev. James L. Vizzard, vice president of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, said the "loudest and most persistent objection" to foreign aid seemed to be "that we need tax cuts more than foreign handouts." "Frankly," he said, "I don't think we have to pay much attention to such nonsense.... If we dedicate ourselves to a program for shared abundance, we may never again be called upon to dedicate our lives and our wealth to a program of shared disaster."

May 29 -- The Rev. Dr. James H. Robinson, representing the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., and the Rev. Dr. Paul C. Empie, executive director of the National Lutheran Council, offered religious and moral reasons for U.S. aid to other countries.

MUTUAL SECURITY--SENATE

COMMITTEE -- Senate Foreign Relations.

CONTINUED HEARINGS -- On the proposed Mutual Security Act of 1957 (S 2130). (Weekly Report, p. 621) TESTIMONY -- May 24 -- Mansfield D. Sprague, Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Affairs, appealed for $1.9 billion in new money for military assistance in fiscal 1958, plus reappropriation of $500 million in funds appropriated but unspent in fiscal 1957. He said the request for new funds was close to a "rock bottom minimum." John L. Holcombe, director of the Defense Department's Office of Programming and Control, said improved management practices accounted in large measure for operation of the fiscal 1957 program at less cost than first estimated.

May 27 -- Special Ambassador James P. Richards (ex-Rep., D S.C. 1933-57), reporting on his Middle East mission, said "flexibility and the ability to act quickly" were "of primary importance" to the mutual security program. He called the special fund requested by President Eisenhower "indispensable," said the programs "should not be one-shot annual affairs. Authority to spend funds over more than one year is needed...."

May 28 -- Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said foreign aid should not be made the "whipping boy" of economy advocates. He said part of the new appropriations requested by the Administration would be used to provide "advanced weapons" to certain allies. Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said it would be "a dangerous misconception to assume that our superiority in modern weapons has reduced our need for allies."

RELATED DEVELOPMENTS -- May 25 -- Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D Texas) said Congress would not write any long-term "blank checks" for foreign aid.

Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland (R Calif.) predicted Congress would put a "restrainer" on the Administration's proposed International Development Fund. He said he favored a provision, similar to one inserted in the Middle East resolution, under which appropriate Congressional committees would be notified 15 days in advance of any decision to make loans to individual nations under the fund.

FOREIGN AID STUDY

COMMITTEE -- Special Senate Committee to Study the Foreign Aid Program.

ACTION -- May 26 released a study of the Foreign Aid Activities of Other Free Nations, prepared by Stuart Rice Associates Inc., a research organization hired by the Committee. (Weekly Report, p. 423)

The report said that "when measured against its (U.S.) huge concentration of capacity to contribute, the scattered contributions to foreign aid of other and weaker free nations total up to amounts not notably disproportionate to" U.S. contributions. It said more than half the $6 billion in foreign aid contributions by other free nations for the years 1952-55 came from France and the United Kingdom.

The report said that "other free nations make principal use of United Nations channels for technical assistance, relief and rehabilitation. Their contributions to United Nations technical assistance programs have increased more rapidly, both in amount and relatively, than have those of the United States."

ALASKAN STATEHOOD

COMMITTEE -- House Interior and Insular Affairs.

ACTION -- May 28 approved, by a 24-6 vote, a bill (HR 50) to provide statehood for Alaska. The Committee deleted provisions, written into the bill by its Territorial and Insular Affairs Subcommittee, to require an Alaskan referendum on the statehood question and to delay for five years the transfer of jurisdiction over fish and wildlife to local authorities. (Weekly Report, p. 619)

Chairman Clair Engle (D Calif.) May 28 said he was considering taking the bill directly to the House floor, without first sending it to the Rules Committee where "we were straight-jacketed before." (1955 Almanac, p. 372)

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

COMMITTEE -- Joint Economic Committee.

ACTION -- May 23 released a staff report on the Economic Situation and Outlook. The study estimated that fiscal 1958 Federal spending would be $1 to $1.5 billion more than the President's budget estimate. The report also said "economic indicators point toward a continued rise in final purchases of goods and services." It said "housing activity appears to be near the end of the decline which began in 1955." (Weekly Report, p. 619)

EXCISE TAX CHANGES

COMMITTEE -- House Ways and Means.

ACTION -- May 24 reported a bill (HR 7125 -- H Rept 481) to make technical changes in the Federal excise tax laws. The bill as approved by the Committee would decrease Government excise tax revenue by $15 million a year. The Committee estimated $10.7 billion would be collected in fiscal 1957 under current law. (For provisions of HR 7125, see Weekly Report, p. 599)

APPROPRIATIONS ITEM VETO

COMMITTEE -- House Judiciary, Subcommittee No. 3.

BEGAN HEARINGS -- On a joint resolution (H J Res 47) to amend the Constitution to permit the President to veto individual items in general appropriations bills. (Weekly Report, p. 572)

TESTIMONY -- May 27 -- Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey said the proposed legislation would "help materially" in "keeping Federal expenditures under control and...seeing to it that the dollars spent by the Federal Government are well spent." Humphrey cited the experience of states with item vetoes and said the power had "been an effective tool for economy and...has been judiciously used." Budget Director Percival F. Brundage called the item veto "an effective weapon for economy."

RELATED DEVELOPMENTS -- May 25 -- President Eisenhower told a Trenton, N.J., Republican rally by telephone that "if the item veto existed right now, I could easily do some serious expense cutting." The President cited "some expensive and unnecessary...projects" such as public works projects not approved by the Army Engineers.

Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland (R Calif.) opposed item veto legislation and said "any such authority would...tend to subordinate the Congress in a way that was never intended by the Constitution."

UNION WELFARE FUNDS

COMMITTEE -- Senate Labor and Public Welfare, Labor Subcommittee.

BEGAN HEARINGS -- On proposals (S 1122, 1145, 1813 and 2137) relating to employee welfare and pension plans. (Weekly Report, p. 538)

TESTIMONY -- May 27 -- Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell submitted revisions for an Administration bill (S 1145) covering labor welfare-pension systems. He said the Administration had "improved and strengthened" its proposals as a result of recent labor racketeering disclosures. The revisions would: make it a Federal crime, with penalties up to five years' imprisonment and a $5,000 fine, for tampering with funds; assure strict registration, reporting and disclosure for all funds, including those financed and managed exclusively by employers. Mitchell said the revised measure was borrowed in part from a bill (S 1122) proposed by Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D Ill.).

May 29 -- Acting Chairman Andrew D. Orrick of the Securities and Exchange Commission and other SEC representatives testified on bills (S 1122, 1813 and 2137) that would give SEC jurisdiction over the program. They said legislation should cover at least a five-year period and opposed establishment of an administrative Advisory Council. They termed "sound" proposals to prohibit "kickbacks" and require fund listings of investments.

STOCK OWNERSHIP DISCLOSURES

COMMITTEE -- Senate Banking and Currency, Securities Subcommittee.

CONTINUED HEARINGS -- On various bills to amend the Securities Exchange Act to require public disclosure of security ownership. (Weekly Report, p. 622)

TESTIMONY -- May 23 -- Jules Abels, Small Business Administration economic adviser, favored bills (S 810, 843) to increase from $300,000 to $500,000 the exemption for new securities issues from registration under the Securities Exchange Act. He said such an increase should make it possible for more small firms to finance themselves through the stock market. Director M. Joseph Meehan of the Commerce Department's Office of Public Economics said foreign holdings of United States corporate stocks amounted to about $6.8 billion.

May 24 -- Henry G. Riter III of the National Assn. of Manufacturers opposed a bill (S 1168) to bring under Securities and Exchange Commission regulation all businesses having $2 million of assets and more than 750 stockholders, or debt securities of more than $1 million outstanding. He said the bill would be particularly burdensome on small, growing corporations.

May 27 -- President Edward T. McCormick of the American Stock Exchange favored S 810, 843 and 1168, with amendments, but opposed another bill (S 1601) designed to force disclosure of the true owners of stock voted in proxy contests. He said the bill's purpose was "laudable," but its scope was too broad.

May 29 -- President G. Keith Funston of the New York Stock Exchange suggested that the SEC be empowered to seek temporary restraining orders "barring the use of a proxy in the case of any block of stock where the Commission has reason to believe that block is being used to conceal information about a contestant in a proxy contest which should be revealed under its rules."

TAX WRITEOFFS

COMMITTEE -- Senate Judiciary, Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee.

CONTINUED HEARINGS -- On proposed legislation to curtail a tax writeoff program for defense-connected industries. (Weekly Report, p. 620, 681)

TESTIMONY -- May 27 -- Director Gordon Gray of the Office of Defense Mobilization said he had ignored Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton's March 11 recommendation that the Idaho Power Co. be denied a rapid tax writeoff for its Hells Canyon project because it was only "an expression of opinion." Gray said Seaton did not consider the firm's compliance with regulations for obtaining the writeoff certificates, but only whether it needed them.

May 29 -- Seaton said he had "no criticism to offer" of Gray because "he exercised his best judgment as it appeared to him under authority vested in him." He said his recommendation was "intended as an appeal" to the ODM, that he had "grave misgivings" about the Idaho Power tax writeoff.

George H. English, Interior Department coordinator of defense electric power, said he never had heard of Seaton's opposition to the tax writeoff. After the Secretary's opinion was given, English said he had called an Idaho Power Co. representative, at ODM request, to see if the dams would be completed in time to qualify for the tax advantage. Seaton said English acted only as a technician and had no particular reason to be informed about policy decisions.

RELATED DEVELOPMENTS -- May 27 -- The Supreme Court refused a second time to review the Federal Power Commission's licensing of Idaho Power's projected three dams in the Hells Canyon area. (Weekly Report, p. 429)

May 28 -- Sen. Styles Bridges (R N.H.) said the possibility of rescinding the Idaho Power tax writeoffs through legislation was discussed both at a White House conference and at a meeting of Republican Senators.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D Ore.), in a Senate speech, said granting of the tax amortization certificates was a "shocking story of political immorality," that the President "should start cleaning house because the case leads right to his door."

ODM General Counsel Charles H. Kendall, testifying before the Joint Defense Production Committee, said the agency's policy had been to favor fast tax writeoffs instead of direct Government loans, which under the Defense Production Act were to be made only when private funds were unavailable. Gray said he was "interested in exploring the merits" of using more Government loans or loan guarantees to encourage expansion of industry vital to defense mobilization.

SCHOOL CONSTRUCTION AID

COMMITTEE -- House Education and Labor.

ACTION -- May 28 reported a bill (HR 1 -- H Rept 489) to authorize a five-year, $1.5 billion program of Federal school construction aid. The Committee approved the measure May 9. (Weekly Report, p. 556)

Rep. Samuel K. McConnell Jr. (R Pa.), ranking GOP Member of the Committee, May 23 said President Eisenhower had told him the Committee-approved, "compromise" school bill had his "full support."

(For Committee Briefs, see p. 661)

Committee Briefs

FARM PROPOSALS

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson May 28 submitted to the House Agriculture Committee the draft of a proposed new farm program under which the Secretary of Agriculture would have authority to fix price supports for basic farm commodities either at 0-90 percent or 60-90 percent of parity. He said the 0-90 percent proposal "has the greater merit." Benson also asked repeal of requirements that price supports on various commodities increase when supplies exceed "normal supply." He requested elimination of existing requirements that the Secretary impose production controls when surpluses appear. (Weekly Report, p. 597)

AIRWAYS MODERNIZATION

Clarence N. Sayen, president of the Air Line Pilots Assn., May 27 told the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee the Civil Aeronautics Administration should be removed from the Commerce Department and made an independent agency. He called for immediate legislation to "place the responsibility for research and development in aviation facilities planning, the operation of the airways, the allocation of airspace and allied responsibilities under a single agency having a single head." (Weekly Report, p. 515)

PRISONERS OF WAR

William Worthy Jr., Baltimore, Md., newsman who defied a State Department ban and toured Communist China, May 27 said the State Department had given the "run-around" to some parents of American prisoners of war. His testimony, before the House Foreign Affairs Far East and the Pacific Subcommittee, was termed "completely false" by Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson. Deputy Secretary of Defense Stephen S. Jackson said that although little hope was held for the 450 servicemen missing in the Korean War, "we cannot in good conscience foreclose the possibility that some may still be alive." Subcommittee Chairman Clement J. Zablocki (D Wis.) May 28 said his group would conduct an inquiry into anti-American outbursts in the Far East.

INTERNATIONAL ATOMIC AGENCY

The United Auto Workers (AFL-CIO) May 23 urged the Senate to ratify the statute for United States membership in the International Atomic Energy Agency. In a letter to the Senate Foreign Relations and Joint Atomic Energy Committees, Victor G. Reuther, assistant to UAW President Walter P. Reuther, said "delay or refusal to ratify the statute would be a diplomatic disaster" that would put the U.S. "in the absurd position of trying to run away from the consequences of our own inventions." Senate Minority Leader William F. Knowland (R Calif.) May 27 said he had asked the State Department to suggest language that would clarify the right of the U.S. to withdraw from the Agency whenever it chose. (Weekly Report, p. 621)

Around The Capitol

CONSUMER CREDIT CONTROLS

The Federal Reserve Board May 24 reported, after a year-long study, that it was not advisable to place Federal controls on consumer installment credit. The Board said it would be more beneficial if "potentially destabilizing credit developments" were restrained by the use of general monetary measures "and the application of sound public and private fiscal policies." The Board's report was sent to Congressional committees and to the Council of Economic Advisers.

The White House May 25 said President Eisenhower would not ask Congress to grant him standby authority to regulate consumer installment credit. The announcement said the President had agreed with the conclusions reached by the Federal Reserve Board's report.

REP. HOFFMAN ATTACKS CQ

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R Mich.), in a May 28 House statement, said that Congressional Quarterly for years had "masqueraded as a non-partisan, objective source of information about the United States Congress while spewing forth its pro-Democrat propaganda." Hoffman, who said he wanted to bar CQ from the mails, called its news accounts "biased," its statistics "inaccurate" and its interpretation of events "slanted." He particularly criticized what he called "the partisan manner" in which CQ compiled its Eisenhower Support statistics. Hoffman introduced two bills (HR 7803, 7804) to bar from the mails publications that conveyed "the false impression that they are official publications of the United States Congress" and to prohibit the use of the words "Congressional" or "Congress" in the titles of such publications.

FEDERAL COURT REVISION

Chief Justice Earl Warren May 22 urged Congress to authorize 42 additional judgeships as recommended by the Judicial Conference of the United States. Warren told the annual meeting of the American Law Institute that the congestion in Federal courts had caused "almost a denial of justice to the litigants." (Weekly Report, p. 282)

GREEN BECOMES OLDEST

The Senate May 27 paid tribute to Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D R.I.), who May 26 became the oldest man ever to serve in Congress. On that day Green -- at an age of 89 years, 7 months and 26 days -- surpassed by one day the record set by Rep. Charles Manly Stedman (D N.C.) who died in office Sept. 23, 1930. (Weekly Report, p. 535)

DISARMAMENT POLICY

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles May 25 announced that the Administration had decided on a "flexible" disarmament policy that would permit negotiations with Russia, but within limits to "safeguard the vital interests of the United States." Dulles said President Eisenhower had approved efforts to restrict the possession of atomic weapons to the nations currently holding them -- Russia, Britain and the U.S. Dulles said the policy changes would "be discussed with our allies as far as they are involved" and that they would "require the consent of any other nation involved in potential inspection areas." (Weekly Report, p. 623)

U. S. CARGO SHIPMENTS

Sen. John Marshall Butler (R Md.) May 22 said the U.S. would be "fully justified" in increasing from 50 percent to 75 percent the amount of Government-financed cargoes that must be carried in U. S. ships. Butler was the sponsor of the 50-50 Cargo Preference Act of 1954. (1954 Almanac, p. 515)

"PAY" TELEVISION RULING

The Federal Communications Commission May 23 announced it had authority to authorize pay-as-you-see television "if it finds it would be in the public interest to do so." The FCC said it needed more information to decide if there was a public need for pay TV. (Weekly Report, p. 377)

FISCAL 1958 BUDGET CUTTING

Vice President Richard M. Nixon May 23, in a speech at the annual dinner of the American Iron and Steel Institute, said substantial cuts in President Eisenhower's foreign aid requests would "jeopardize not only our safety but our chance for victory in the world struggle." Nixon said cuts in military foreign aid could "under no stretch of the imagination be held sound economy." (Weekly Report, p. 623, 624)

PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATIONS

President Eisenhower sent the following nominations to the Senate for confirmation:

Andrew D. Orrick of California, a Republican, as a member of the Securities and Exchange Commission; May 27.

James M. Langley of New Hampshire, a Republican, as Ambassador to Pakistan; May 27.

SENATE CONFIRMATIONS

The Senate confirmed the following nominations: Michael A. Stepovich of Alaska, a Republican, as Governor of Alaska; May 16.

Roger Charles Ernst of Arizona, a Republican, as an Assistant Secretary of Interior; May 16.

J. Sinclair Armstrong of Illinois, a Republican, as an Assistant Secretary of Navy; May 23.

WHY FOOD COSTS RISE, FARM PRICES DROP

The House Agriculture Consumers Study Subcommittee, headed by Rep. Victor L. Anfuso (D N.Y.), has begun its study of the relationship of farm prices and the cost of food to the consumer. (Weekly Report, p. 557) The study is aimed at learning why "in the past 10 years retail food prices have increased 16 percent while farm prices were declining 14 percent." This Fact Sheet summarizes testimony before the Subcommittee.

"The belief is widespread that food is high-priced or costly," John A. Logan, president of the National Assn. of Food Chains, said May 8.

Testimony of Omer W. Herrmann, deputy administrator of the Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service, May 7 tended to rebut that belief. "Food prices now average about the same as in 1951-52," he said. "They declined moderately from then until the middle of 1956 when the earlier postwar upward trend was resumed. Measured in terms of the purchasing power of one hour of factory labor, the prices on most major food items in 1956 were substantially lower than in 1929 or 1939 and slightly lower than in 1955."

Examples cited by Herrmann of what one hour of factory labor would buy:

- Bread -- 1929, 6.4 loaves; 1939, 8.0 loaves; 1956, 11 loaves.
- Steak -- 1929, 1.2 pounds; 1939, 1.8 pounds; 1956, 2.2 pounds.
- Milk -- 1929, 7.8 pints; 1939, 10.4 pints; 1956, 16.4 pints.
- Eggs -- 1929, 1.1 dozen; 1939, 2.0 dozen; 1956, 3.3 dozen.

Consumers, said Herrmann, have kept the share of their disposable income spent on food at a steady 25 percent since 1947, "even though they are eating more and better foods at home and are buying more meals in restaurants.... A mere 17 percent of disposable income would suffice to buy the same quantities and kinds of food per family that were bought (with 25 percent of the income) in the late 1930s."

Another measure of the "bonus" today's consumers buy was given May 8 by Robert H. Bingham, administrative vice president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America Inc. "A few years ago," Bingham said, "it took about 5½ hours a day to prepare meals for a family of four. Today, comparable menus...can be prepared in only about 1½ hours."

Prices to Farmers

Part of this bonus, testimony showed, has been achieved at the expense of declining prices to farmers. Herrmann estimated that if farm prices had moved as other prices have since 1950, the consumer cost of living index would be 3 percent or 4 percent higher.

Because of the farm price decline, the share of the retail dollar received by farmers declined from a high of 53 percent in 1945 to a low of 40 percent in 1956. The farmer's share of the market price varies widely from commodity to commodity, depending largely on the amount of processing needed to prepare each item for the consumer. On the average from 1952-56, farmers received 71 percent of the market price of butter and 69 percent of the egg price, compared to only 15 percent of the price of soda crackers and corn flakes.

Marketing Costs

The remainder of the market price -- 60 cents of every food dollar spent in 1956 -- is taken up in the marketing margin, the so-called "farm to market price spread." The increase in the over-all size of the marketing margin has been the source of much criticism and suspicion.

Herrmann testified: "The total bill for marketing farm food products rose from $9 billion in 1940 to $34 billion in 1956." The $25 billion increase, he said, was broken down this way:

- $14.5 billion, or 58 percent, attributable to inflation or the "general rise in all prices."
- $4.5 billion, or 18 percent, attributable to a 50 percent increase in the volume of food marketed.
- $6 billion, or 24 percent, attributable to the added services provided by the food distributors.

Total amounts spent on labor, transportation, materials and other costs and total profits all increased markedly in the period from 1940 to 1956, Herrmann said, but the "pattern of costs has not varied greatly throughout the 16 years." The Agriculture Department chart below indicates that no single element in the marketing picture -- wages, profits or transportation -- can properly be singled out for blame in connection with the increase in the marketing margin.

Share of food marketing bill attributable to:

	Corporate Profits*	Labor Costs	Transportation	Other Costs
1940	5%	46%	12%	37%
1945	8	44	10	38
1950	8	46	12	34
1955	6	47	13	34

*Before Taxes

As for food marketing firms' profits, Herrmann said: "Larger total profits in recent years can be explained primarily by the increased volume of food sales handled by these firms. Their profits as a percentage of sales are lower than in 1945 and 1946."

Perhaps the best measure of the trend of profits in food marketing is in terms of net profit after taxes as a percentage of stockholders' equity or net assets. These figures, given in the Agriculture Department table below, show earnings of the food industry, measured in these terms, have remained fairly steady through the last decade.

Net profit after taxes, as a percentage of stockholders' equity or net assets, of 51 leading food processors, 5 leading food wholesalers and 8 leading retail food chains:

	Processors	Wholesalers	Retailers
1945	8.2%	12.7%	8.1%
1946	13.6	27.3	18.1
1947	13.4	18.8	18.8
1948	11.3	16.1	16.9
1949	10.0	12.5	15.4
1950	11.5	10.0	13.8
1951	8.5	9.5	10.0
1952	8.1	5.4	9.8
1953	9.1	7.1	11.0
1954	8.8	7.5	10.9
1955	10.1	6.7	10.8

Problems of Marketing Process

The major point that emerged from the testimony was that consumers buy a number of things other than what the farmer produced with their grocery dollars. That "spread," Bingham of the Grocery Manufacturers said, "is a payment for a series of values added by processing, packaging, transporting and distributing. The marketing "spread" exists, he added, because the consumers have shown they want those "values added."

What are the added values that are paid for in the grocery bill? Logan of the Food Chains gave the Subcommittee this list:

- A better diet, with proteins from dairy products, eggs, meat and poultry replacing carbohydrates from flour and potatoes.
- Built-in maid service from frozen, pre-cooked and partially prepared foods that reduce food preparation time in the home.
- A greater variety of foods, with the average supermarket stocking 6,000 items compared to 1,000 items in the average grocery store of 1933.
- Shopping services, including parking facilities, refrigeration and air conditioning, improved sanitation and lighting and check cashing services.

Inclusion of these "extras" in the marketing bill may satisfy consumer demand but it also raises important problems, testimony to the Subcommittee showed.

Rep. Merwin Coad (D Iowa) May 8 warned the "definite tendency" toward "expensively packaged and merchandised" foods "may be the cause of less consumption among those of low-income groups." He said that "the more it takes to pay for the packaging and merchandising, the less there is left for the actual food product... High consumer costs for foods tend only to create a condition of under-consumption among the masses who can least afford high prices."

This tendency to lower consumption, he added, would not only hurt low-income consumers but also might cut into the potential market for farmers' products. Along this line, Subcommittee Chairman Anfuso said, "If we can find ways of reducing food marketing charges just 2 percent, and they are reflected in increased purchases of food, it would be equivalent to a 15 percent increase in industrial uses of farm products."

Another problem was pointed out May 8 by Dr. Persia Campbell, consumer consultant to New York State. She said: "With the extraordinary development of mass retailing that has taken place in recent years and the necessity for large supermarkets and other large food outlets to develop and maintain volume, new promotional devices and 'gimmicks' of all kinds have become a feature of their operation.... Insofar as these promotional activities distract consumers from the exercise of choice on a price-quality basis, they are not in the consumer interest and do not encourage consumer competence necessary for the proper use of our resources."

Trading Stamps

The most popular -- and most controversial -- of food store "gimmicks" or promotional activities is the issuance of trading stamps. (For a more detailed study of trading stamps, see Editorial Research Reports, Vol. I, 1956, page 409)

Herrmann testified that on the basis of Department of Agriculture research "no generalization can be drawn as to whether a consumer (who saves trading stamps) gets something for nothing, pays part, all or even more than the cost of similar merchandise purchased for cash. Conditions vary from community to community, from store to store within the same community and even within the same store at different periods of time."

From the food store's viewpoint, Herrmann said, trading stamps are a promotional device. "Probably some consumers would be willing to forego all promotional efforts if this meant lower prices," he said, "but promotion in all forms appears to have become an essential part of our economic system."

A booklet on trading stamps issued in May by the Department of Agriculture pointed out that "the merchant pays about 2% percent of his gross sales to the stamp company for the right to issue stamps...and an extra cost of this magnitude must be offset in some way.... There are ways in which such costs may be partially or wholly offset without raising prices. These include, for example, reduction of unit costs by substantially increasing the quantity of merchandise sold, reduction of other forms of promotion, and stocking items other than food that have higher markups."

However, the booklet said that "though many retailers experience an increase in sales following the introduction of a stamp plan, the size of this increase can vary greatly. The first dealer in his immediate trade area to introduce stamps may have an increase in sales that will more than meet the entire cost of stamps. On the other hand...there may be little or no increase in sales...or even though sales increase at first, they may not continue to do so if competing food stores adopt trading stamps.... Unless a retailer can save in other ways, all or part of the cost of the stamp plan must be passed on as higher prices, or he will have to take smaller profits or even a loss."

If the costs of trading stamps are passed on to the consumer in higher prices, the booklet warned, it amounts to the food buyer being compelled to join a "prepayment plan" for the merchandise offered in the stamp company's catalogue.

Herrmann told the Subcommittee the Agriculture Department was continuing its research in this field.

Conclusion

Chairman Anfuso told Congressional Quarterly he believed the hearings had established two general conclusions: "The farmer is not responsible for the increase in the cost of living; in fact he has not shared adequately in the Nation's prosperity. Second, no information so far developed indicates profiteering by labor or management at the expense of the consumer in the food distribution field."

The Subcommittee will continue its studies of marketing practices on specific commodities.

WILL FOREIGN AID LOANS BE REPAYED?

The President's May 21 request for the creation of a Development Loan Fund to handle the bulk of American economic assistance to foreign countries has renewed interest in the record of prior United States loans to other nations. (Weekly Report, p. 624)

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles May 22 reported to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee the record of repayment on previous loans and the chances for repayment on the proposed loans. He said: "There are one or two cases where interest is in arrears or has not been pressed, but I don't think that is surprising.... We all recognize there are conditions where interest has to be foregone or suspended.

"That does not mean you are not going to get it.... The main thing is...if you have a well-founded faith in the future of the country and do enough to get it well started then you can get your money back.... I would hazard the guess that a very large part, most probably, of what will be loaned by this Development Fund, will at some time or other, in some way or other, inure correspondingly to the benefit of the United States.... Nations, when they think they have to repay, are not going to be so eager to borrow, unless they are quite sure they are really going to get the benefit out of the loan which will enable them to repay...."

This Fact Sheet surveys the past loan record to answer the question: Is Dulles' confidence warranted?

16-Year Record

The table on Pages 666 and 667 shows the loan record of every country that has received credit from the United States from July 1, 1940, through Dec. 31, 1956. It includes loans and credits made available under all these wartime and postwar programs: the Export-Import Bank; the British loan of 1945; Mutual Security; overseas surplus property sales; prior grants converted into credits; Lend-Lease; strategic and defense materials development; United Nations headquarters loan; Philippine funding; loans of the Institute of Inter-American affairs; loans of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation; the occupied-areas commodity programs; and the Army's natural fibers revolving fund. Following is a summary of the repayment record on U.S. loans from July 1, 1940, through Dec. 31, 1956, in thousands of dollars:

Net Loans, Credits Authorized	$18,273,228	100.000%
Loans Not Used	1,981,620	10.844
Loans Repaid	4,631,122	25.344
Loans Outstanding	11,652,123	63.766
Loans Charged Off as Uncollectible	8,363	0.046

SOURCE: PUBLICATION, "FOREIGN GRANTS AND CREDITS," DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE, OFFICE OF BUSINESS ECONOMICS, APRIL, 1957.

The preceding chart shows that of the $18.2 billion in loans and credits made available to foreign countries since mid-1940, less than 1/20th of 1 percent has been written off as uncollectible. Almost half of this amount -- $4 million of the $8.3 million total -- was written off because of devaluations in local currency after the granting of loans repayable in that local currency. All the remaining loss came on loans to "nongovernmental foreign entities," i.e., private firms, including branches of American firms, doing business in foreign countries.

The chart also shows that on Dec. 31, 1956, an additional $75,18,000 in principal -- 0.41 percent of the net loans authorized -- was more than 90 days overdue. Of this total, $70.6 million was owed by foreign governments and $4.5 million by private firms. The governments that were more than $1 million in arrears on principal repayment were: Nationalist China, Hungary, Indonesia, Iran, the Philippines, Poland, Turkey and Russia.

From 1940 through 1956, interest payments and commissions on the $18.2 billion in authorized loans totaled $1,860,776,000. Another $32,097,000 of interest was more than 90 days overdue on Dec. 31, 1956.

Can Fund Be Self-Sustaining?

In the last three years principal payments alone on old credits have exceeded new loan utilizations by $235 million, as shown in this table of principal repayments and new loan utilizations in millions of dollars:

Year	Repayments	New Loan Utilizations
1954	$ 501	$ 387
1955	503	409
1956	509	482
Total	$1,513	$1,278

In the next six years (1957-62) principal repayments scheduled on existing loans will total $2,701,644,000 and interest payments will total $1,471,894,000. The availability of these sums has led Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R Ind.) to suggest that if they were allocated to the proposed Development Loan Fund, it could become a self-sustaining institution, without further appropriations of tax moneys.

Administration officials have informed Capehart that his suggestion is not practical for repayments on loans made before 1955. "Receipts of principal and interest on these credits go, by law, into miscellaneous receipts in the Treasury or to retire notes previously given to the Treasury," according to an April 22 letter to the Foreign Relations Committee from Deputy Director Guilford Jameson of the International Cooperation Administration.

In fiscal 1959, however, repayments will begin on loans and credits authorized by the Mutual Security Act of 1954 and Public Law 480 (Surplus Agricultural Disposal) of 1954. These repayments, in local currency, are scheduled to increase from $12 million in fiscal 1959 to $41 million in fiscal 1960 and $89 million in fiscal 1961. They will continue to grow at a diminishing rate over the next 34 years. Congress has not yet provided for the use to be made of these local currencies and it is possible they might be integrated into the proposed Development Loan Fund.

EASTERN GOP CONFERENCE

National and eastern Republican leaders met May 23-25 at Trenton, N.J., for the last of six regional conferences on party matters and 1958 election campaign strategy. (Weekly Report, p. 635) Attending were delegates from Delaware, District of Columbia, Maryland, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn said conferees had criticized the size of the $71.8 billion budget recommended by President Eisenhower but the delegates' "greatest amount of criticism was on the method of presentation." Conferees endorsed Mr. Eisenhower's request for the power to veto individual items in appropriation bills. They opposed Federal school aid and grants-in-aid to the states.

Alcorn predicted that the GOP would retain its five Senate seats up for reelection in the Middle Atlantic area in 1958. Republicans currently hold eight of the area's 10 Senate seats. He predicted a "net gain" of four, possibly five, House seats in the five-state area. Fifty-six of the area's 95 House seats are held by Republicans, with one Republican vacancy. Alcorn also predicted that the Republican party would capture the governorships of New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, and retain the Maryland governorship.

In a telephone address to the meeting, President Eisenhower May 24 called for election of a Republican-controlled Congress in 1958 and defended his budget.

Special Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams told the conference "it is inconceivable that loyal Republicanism can be twisted to mean persistent and carping opposition to our party's leader and our party platform. If that should be our course...our party will be foredoomed at the polls."

State Roundup

MARYLAND -- John P. Hartz, 33, Silver Hill postal clerk, May 22 filed for the Democratic Senatorial nomination for the seat held by J. Glenn Beall (R). (Weekly Report, p. 511)

NEW JERSEY -- City Commissioner Charles S. Witkowski (D) May 21 was sworn in as mayor of Jersey City. Witkowski belongs to an insurgent Democratic group that defeated the Hudson County organization headed by John V. Kenny. State Sen. James F. Murray Jr., high man on the insurgent slate, said he considered it "illegal and improper" for him to serve as both mayor and state senator. Former Mayor Bernard J. Berry was the only member of the Kenny ticket elected to the commission. (Weekly Report, p. 611)... Gov. Robert B. Meyner (D) May 20 rejected a demand by Murray that he be recognized by Meyner as Hudson County's sole Democratic leader.

NEW YORK -- Gov. Averell Harriman (D) May 23 said he would run for reelection in 1958.... Oswald D. Heck, state assembly speaker, May 22 said it was too early to discuss whether he would seek the 1958 Republican gubernatorial nomination.... Rep. Paul A. Fino (R) May 21 said he had decided against making the race for the New York City GOP mayoral nomination. (Weekly Report, p. 635)

PENNSYLVANIA -- Former Gov. John S. Fine (R) was defeated in a bid for a Common Pleas Court seat in the May 22 primary in Luzerne County, where he had controlled the GOP organization for nearly 30 years.... Democrats gained a seat in the State House of Representatives as a result of a special election in Montour County.... Democratic Mayors David Lawrence of Pittsburgh and James T. Hanlon of Scranton won renomination.

The AFL-CIO ethical practices committee May 22 adopted a code of financial practices based on the principle that unions are to improve wages, hours and working conditions, not to make money. The code lists accounting principles calling for regular audits and bars union loans to union officers or to firms with which a union has labor contract dealings.

The Laundry Workers International Union (AFL-CIO) May 22 was suspended by the AFL-CIO executive council for not "complying with (the council's) directives." The council also issued warnings to the Allied Industrial Workers and the Distillery Workers International Union. (Weekly Report, p. 538)

Lewis M. Evans, president of the National Small Business Men's Assn., May 21 said small business held the balance of political power and warned of the possibility of a new political party forming. (Weekly Report, p. 639)

Rep. Charles O. Porter (D Ore.) May 22 called Evans' speech "ignorant, insulting, and irresponsible." Porter said Evans told the group the country would be "better off... without us; that is, (without the) legislative, judiciary and executive branches."

Floor Action

STATE, JUSTICE, JUDICIARY FUNDS

Congress May 29 completed action on the State, Justice, and Judiciary Appropriation bill for fiscal 1958 (HR 6871) when the Senate agreed by a 75-2 roll-call vote to a conference report (H Rept 492) recommending $562,891,293 for the two Departments, the Federal judiciary, the United States Information Agency and for U.S. participation in trade fairs and cultural exchanges. (For voting, see chart p. 680) The Senate action immediately followed House approval, by voice vote, of the conference version of the bill.

The final version of HR 6871 provided less funds than either the House or Senate versions of the bill -- $908,500 less than the House-approved bill and $194,000 less than the Senate bill.

BACKGROUND -- The final version was $102,758,- 509 less than requested by the President for fiscal 1958. The bill was passed by the Senate May 15 carrying $563,085,293 (Weekly Report, p. 591) and by the House April 17 carrying $563,799,793. (Weekly Report, p. 477)

PROVISIONS -- The breakdown of funds in HR 6871 as sent to the President:

GRAND TOTAL	$562,891,293

The final version of the bill also:

Prohibited USIA from duplicating or competing in general news, film or picture service activities with private U.S. agencies.

Made $6.5 million of the $12.4 million for international trade fairs and cultural exchanges available for U.S. participation in the Universal and International Exhibition at Brussels, Belgium, in 1958.

DEBATE -- May 29 -- The conference report was approved by the House with a minimum of discussion but the Senate debated the USIA practice of paying independent newspaper and film agencies for their services when they could be performed by USIA itself.

Lyndon B. Johnson (D Texas) -- Was "shocked" that 475 newspapermen were paid by USIA for "propaganda" articles at various times and that about $70,000 was spent for this purpose in the past year. He feared the U.S. might "wind up having a Government-kept or at least a Government-directed press to the extent of 500 or 600 writers, anyway."

J. W. Fulbright (D Ark.) -- The practice, which "ought to be stopped," might "have some bearing on the uniformly favorable press the USIA has received."

Richard L. Neuberger (D Ore.) -- "The morality of individual members of the press is as good as that of individual members in politics."

EXECUTIVE OFFICES FUNDS

Congressional action was completed May 27 on a bill (HR 5788) to provide $16,010,370 in fiscal 1958 funds for the Office of the President and other executive offices of the Government. The Senate May 27 agreed to recede from two of its amendments, neither of which changed the total of funds in the bill. The Senate action came after the House May 24 agreed by voice vote to the remaining six Senate amendments.

BACKGROUND -- The Senate May 22 passed HR 5788. (Weekly Report, p. 646) The House March 13 approved the bill. (Weekly Report, p. 333) The final amount was $4,911,500 under budget estimates for fiscal 1958.

PROVISIONS -- HR 5788, as sent to the President, appropriated:

Floor Action - 2

Executive Office of the President
President's compensation	$ 150,000
White House Office	2,051,970
Special projects	1,375,000
Executive mansion and grounds	400,400
Bureau of the Budget	4,205,000
Council of Economic Advisers	375,000
National Security Council	700,000
Office of Defense Mobilization	2,214,000
President's Advisory Committee on Government Organization	50,000
Subtotal	$11,521,370
Funds Appropriated to the President's Emergency Fund	$ 1,000,000
American Battle Monuments Com- mission	2,500,000
Corregidor Bataan Memorial Commission	44,000
Foreign Claims Settlement Commission	570,000
Subversive Activities Control Board	375,000
TOTAL	$16,010,370

HR 5788 also provided that $265,000 from the War Claims Fund be added to the funds appropriated for the Foreign Claims Settlement Commission.

IMMIGRATION CHANGES

The House May 21 passed by voice votes and returned to the Senate two immigration bills (S 247, S 461) after converting them from private to public bills and amending them to extend entry privileges to certain groups of aliens instead of just the individuals specified by the Senate. The bills were passed without discussion on a call of the Private Calendar.

As passed by the House, S 247 granted permanent status to some 15,000 aliens facing deportation for falsifying their birth places through fear of repatriation to Communist-controlled countries. IN S 461, permanent residence on a non-quota basis was granted more than 500 families of foreign skilled specialists currently in the U.S.

BACKGROUND -- Both bills were passed by the Senate March 8. Permanent status was granted by S 247 to a Russian-born couple who falsified their birthplace in entering the country, and by S 461 to a Chinese nuclear physicist and his family. The House Judiciary Committee, in reporting S 461 (H Rept 409) May 9 on the recommendation of its Immigration and Nationality Subcommittee, pointed up the "inconsistency" in the urgent need for such specialists as scientists and doctors and the lack of visas. In reporting S 247 (H Rept 446) May 14, the Committee said it was "unfair and improper" to extend legislative relief "solely to a few selected individuals" who were able to seek Congressional redress. President Eisenhower, in his Immigration Message Jan. 31, asked for legislation similar to the amended version of S 247. (Weekly Report, p. 147)

RELATED DEVELOPMENT -- May 24 -- Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R Utah), ranking Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee's Immigration and Naturalization Subcommittee, said of the House action: "They're just trying to pick out those things that they know will be popular and leave the rest of the Administration's program without action. It's piecemeal legislation and I don't see why we should accept it."

DEFENSE APPROPRIATION

The House May 29 passed by a roll-call vote of 394-1 and sent to the Senate a bill (HR 7665) to provide fiscal 1958 appropriations of $33,562,725,000 for the Department of Defense. The House rejected, by a roll-call vote of 151-242, a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to increase the total by $313 million. (For voting, see chart p. 678) As passed, the bill provided $2,565,275,000 less than budget requests.

The House rejected a number of Republican-backed amendments to restore funds to the bill. Party leaders, at a May 27 meeting of the House Republican Policy Committee, agreed to fight for a $313 million restoration of funds when the bill came to a vote. President Eisenhower had requested restoration of $1.2 billion of the $2.6 billion cut by the House Appropriations Committee. Despite the Republican moves, the only increase approved on the House floor was $21.5 million for the Air Force share in the initial costs of establishing a civil air navigation and control system in the United States.

Language continuing the operations of Government hospitals in Hot Springs, Ark., and Waltham, Mass., was deleted when a point of order against legislation on an appropriation bill was sustained.

BACKGROUND -- The House Appropriations Committee May 21 reported HR 7665 (H Rept 471), recommending $33,541,225,000 for fiscal 1958 defense funds. (Weekly Report, p. 620)

PROVISIONS -- As passed by the House, HR 7665 would provide:

Office of Secretary of Defense	$ 16,350,000
Interservice Activities	682,375,000
Army	7,239,425,000
Navy	9,801,355,000
Air Force	15,823,220,000
TOTAL	$33,562,725,000

AMENDMENTS ACCEPTED

HOUSING BILL

The Senate May 29 passed by a roll-call vote of 69-1 a bill (HR 6659) to provide a housing program for fiscal 1958 and following years. The Senate insisted on its amendments to the bill and requested a Conference with the House. (For voting, see charts, p. 680, 681)

The Senate adopted several amendments that substantially changed the version of the bill approved by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. (Weekly Report, p. 598) The Senate considered en bloc and accepted by a roll-call vote of 67-11, amendments by John W. Bricker (R Ohio) that reduced total authorizations in the bill by $1,259,900,000. Also accepted, by a roll-call vote of 38-32, was an amendment by Wallace F. Bennett (R Utah) to retain the Federal contribution to slum clearance and urban renewal projects at two-thirds, rather than three-fourths, of the total project.

The Senate rejected three amendments by roll-call votes. One, by Albert Gore (D Tenn.), would have increased the capitalization of the regular secondary market operations of the Federal National Mortgage Assn. to $350 million. It was rejected by a vote of 17-61. An amendment by Wayne Morse (D Ore.) to authorize 200,000 additional low-cost housing units in each of fiscal years 1958 and 1959 was rejected 20-54. An amendment by Prescott Bush (R Conn.) to increase rates of interest on college housing loans was rejected by a vote of 16-54.

BACKGROUND -- The Senate Banking and Currency Committee May 20 reported HR 6659 (S Rept 368) with amendments substantially different from the recommendations of its Housing Subcommittee. (Weekly Report, p. 598) The Senate version of the bill also differed greatly from the version passed by the House May 9. (Weekly Report, p. 552)

PROVISIONS -- As passed by the Senate, HR 6659 would:

Establish minimum down payments for Federally insured housing loans at 3 percent of the first $10,000; 10 percent of the next $6,000; and 30 percent of those above $16,000.

Retain current public housing program under which 35,000 units were authorized for the next year.

Increase the total borrowing authority of FNMA by $350 million.

Provide $150 million for an FNMA program for purchase of cooperative housing mortgages.

Provide that the urban renewal program would be increased in fiscal 1958 and 1959 by $250 million.

Retain Federal grant formula for urban renewal by which the Government pays two-thirds of the project costs.

Provide $175 million for college housing loans.

Provide $200 million for military housing mortgages.

AMENDMENTS ACCEPTED

Homer E. Capehart (R Ind.), as modified by John J. Sparkman (D Ala.) -- Establish minimum down payments for Federal Housing Administration-insured loans at 3 percent of the first $10,000 on an FHA-insured house; 10 percent of the next $6,000; and 30 percent of those above $16,000; May 28. Voice vote.

John W. Bricker (R Ohio) -- Amendments considered en bloc:

Reduce by $175,000 to $75,000 the amount of purchases and commitments that can be made under the urban renewal program;

Reduce to $1.7 billion the amount of FNMA obligations that may be purchased by the U.S. Treasury;

Reduce by $150 million the revolving fund for purchase by FNMA of FHA-insured cooperative housing mortgages;

Reduce the limitation on outstanding commitments per state to $20 million;

Provide that $100 million of the revolving fund would be reserved for consumer-sponsored cooperatives;

Provide that not more than $10 million in any one state would be outstanding at one time for non-consumer-sponsored cooperatives;

Provide that the urban renewal program would be increased by $250 million on July 1, 1957, and July 1, 1958;

Delete authorization for $500,000 for three-year HHFA graduate training program in urban planning;

Delete program for housing for disaster victims;

Reduce the revolving fund for college housing loans by $25 million;

Reduce by $100,000 the authorization for farm-housing research program; May 28. Roll call, 67-11.

Hubert H. Humphrey (D Minn.) -- Provide that the Federal Housing Commissioner and the Administrator of Veterans' Affairs would establish regulations for discount control; May 28. Standing.

J. Glenn Beall (R Md.) -- Authorize the Federal Housing Commissioner to decide when Government-insured mortgage property is in a "high-cost area" so that mortgages above $15,000 may be purchased; May 28. Voice.

Humphrey -- Authorize Federal Housing Commissioner to establish a maximum sales price for property covered by a Government-insured mortgage, to issue a certificate of such a price, and to require as a condition for eligibility for insurance that the price would not exceed the established maximum; May 29. Voice.

Wallace F. Bennett (R Utah) -- Retain Federal contribution to slum clearance and urban renewal at two-thirds, rather than the Committee-recommended three-fourths, of the total project; May 29. Roll call, 38-32.

Thomas H. Kuchel (R Calif.) -- Extend urban planning grants to areas threatened with rapid urbanization as a result of the establishment of a Federal installation; May 29. Voice.

AMENDMENTS REJECTED

Albert Gore (D Tenn.) -- Increase from the Committee-recommended $100 million to $350 million the capitalization of the regular secondary market operations of the FNMA, and prohibit discounts on Government-insured mortgages. May 28. Roll call, 17-61.

Wayne Morse (D Ore.) -- Authorize FHA to contract for loans for not more than 200,000 additional low-cost housing units during each of fiscal years 1958 and 1959; May 29. Roll-call, 20-54.

Prescott Bush (R Conn.) -- Provide for increased rates of interest on college housing loans; May 29. Roll-call, 16-54.

DEBATE -- May 27 -- John J. Sparkman (D Ala.) -- "The great mass market for housing is made up of people with incomes of $6,000 a year or less. If we could put emphasis on...houses costing $15,000 or less -- we probably would do more good than by any other single act."

Homer E. Capehart (R Ind.) -- "We are not going to be able to do much about (the rise in) interest rates so long as there is inflation,...and full employment in America."

HELLS CANYON DUE FOR ANOTHER SENATE TEST

The Hells Canyon issue will undergo another test within the next few days. The Senate is slated to consider a bill (S 555 -- S Rept 324) to authorize Federal construction of a high dam in the Hells Canyon area of the Snake River on the Idaho-Oregon border. (Weekly Report, p. 659)

The argument over whether there should be public or private development of Hells Canyon has been raging since 1947. The private development forces, currently led by the Eisenhower Administration, have won out so far. If they win the upcoming Senate test the public power forces concede little hope of ever revoking the decision to permit a private utility to develop the area.

In 1956, the Senate rejected Federal development of Hells Canyon by a 41-51 roll-call vote. Eight Democrats crossed party lines to vote with 43 Republicans against Federal development. (1956 Almanac, p. 499; 1955 Almanac, p. 449)

Even though the Idaho Power Co. has been licensed by the Federal Power Commission to build three dams in the Hells Canyon area and already has started construction on one of them, public power groups believe the Senate may reverse itself for these reasons:

- The Office of Defense Mobilization has given proponents a new issue by authorizing Idaho Power Co. to write off much of the dams' construction costs in five years instead of the usual 50 years, raising cries of "interest-free loan" and "subsidy."

- The death of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R Wis.), resignation of Sen. Price Daniel (D Texas) and the defeat of three Republicans, all of whom were against the measure, have narrowed the opposition. New Democratic Sens. Ralph Yarborough (Texas), John A. Carroll (Colo.), Frank Church (Idaho) and Joseph S. Clark (Pa.) support Federal development of Hells Canyon.

Fast Tax Writeoff

The Office of Defense Mobilization April 29 announced it had authorized Idaho Power Co. to depreciate 65 percent of the $67,138,240 cost of Brownlee Dam and 60 percent of the $35,943,730 cost of Oxbow Dam in five years instead of the usual 50 years.

This means Idaho Power Co. can deduct $65,206,094 from its taxable income in figuring out its income taxes over that five-year period. Ordinarily the company could deduct only 1/50 of that amount each year, or $6,520,609 for the five-year period.

The difference equals $58,685,485. This "extra" depreciation deduction would save the company $30.5 million in taxes over the five-year period. But its later taxes would be higher because it would have used up some of its depreciation deductions.

- Some of the Democratic Senators who voted against the bill in 1956 are expected to reverse their vote in 1957 or else not vote at all. Democratic Sens. Harry Flood Byrd and A. Willis Robertson of Virginia, who voted against Hells Canyon in 1956, on April 29 protested ODM's granting of tax writeoff certificates to Idaho Power Co.

This optimism is tempered by the Congressional economy drive and the election of Republican Senators to four seats formerly held by Democrats who voted for Federal development of Hells Canyon: John Sherman Cooper (Ky.), Thruston B. Morton (Ky.), Jacob K. Javits (N.Y.) and Chapman Revercomb (W. Va.).

Even if Federal development of Hells Canyon were approved by the Senate, the measure still would have to overcome opposition by the House and President Eisenhower who might veto the legislation.

Pro and Con

- PRO -- Proponents of a high (722 feet) Federal dam in Hells Canyon contend it is the only way to get the full potential water power. They also claim the Government investment would be repaid from revenues while the high dam would offer lower electricity rates to consumers. National organizations subscribing to this view include the American Public Power Assn., AFL-CIO, National Hells Canyon Assn. and National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn.

- CON -- Opponents of Federal development contend Idaho Power Co. is fully capable of developing the area and will do so sooner than the Government. They maintain there is no sense in saddling taxpayers with the development costs when the private company can do the job. Organizations subscribing to this view include the Chamber of Commerce of the U.S., Edison Electric Institute and National Assn. of Electric Cos.

These statistics compare the proposed Federal high dam at Hells Canyon with the three smaller dams planned by the Idaho Power Co. Where Republicans disputed the figures presented July 19, 1956, by the Democratic majority on the Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, the Republican figure is shown in italics.

Item	Federal Dam	3 Private Dams
Power Output (kilowatts)	924,000	505,000 675,000
Power Cost (per kilowatt hour)	2.7 mills	6.69 mills 3.8 mills
Water Storage (acre feet)	3,880,000	1,000,000
Flood Control Benefits (annual)	$2,300,000	$1,000,000
Navigation Benefits (annual)	$189,000	$108,000
Construction Cost (less transmission lines)	$308,472,000	$175,766,000 $133,000,000

HIGHLIGHTS IN THE FEDERAL HELLS CANYON CONTROVERSY

● 1947 -- Feb. 8 -- Commissioner of Reclamation submits to Secretary of Interior "a comprehensive plan for the development of the water resources of the Columbia River Basin." The plan (H Doc 473, 80th Congress) refers to Hells Canyon as a potential power and reservoir site. The Army Engineers engage in similar studies of the Basin.

June 24 -- The Idaho Power Co., an investor-owned utility incorporated in Maine, applies to the Federal Power Commission for a preliminary permit to build a hydroelectric project at Oxbow near the proposed Hells Canyon dam. Secretary of Interior Julius A. Krug (D) and Sen. Glen H. Taylor (D Idaho) oppose the application.

Sept. 8 -- Idaho Power Co. writes FPC that it does not want to pursue its application because of the Government's interest in Hells Canyon. The company asks that its application be held in abeyance, permitting it to retain its priority of application.

● 1948 -- May, June -- Flood in lower Columbia River brings request from President Truman for the Army Engineers and Interior Department to intensify their project planning and coordinate their efforts for developing the Columbia River Basin.

● 1949 -- April 11 -- Army Engineers and Interior Department sign agreement to divide the work in developing the Columbia River Basin. Reclamation Bureau is authorized to build Hells Canyon project if Congress approves.

● 1950 -- Feb. 1 -- Truman Administration endorses Interior Department recommendation that Congress authorize Federal construction of Hells Canyon dam.

Feb. 14 -- Secretary of Army submits to Congress Army Engineers' plan (H Doc 531, 81st Congress) for developing Columbia River Basin. It mentions Hells Canyon as potential power site.

April 14 -- Senate rejects amendments to the Rivers, Harbors and Flood Control Bill of 1950 that would have authorized Federal construction of Hells Canyon dam. One amendment, to authorize Hells Canyon and several other projects, was tabled 43-22 (D 22-19, R 21-3). Another, to authorize Hells Canyon but revise certain bookkeeping arrangements, was tabled 51-13 (D 34-6, R 17-7).

Dec. 15 -- Idaho Power Co. applies to the Federal Power Commission for a formal license to build the Oxbow project. Again the Interior Department objects; FPC takes no immediate action on the application.

● 1952 -- July -- Hearings are held in Idaho and Oregon on Idaho Power Co.'s application to build five dams on the Snake River, with Oxbow slated as the first unit constructed. Interior Department and public power organizations oppose plan.

Nov. 10 -- The company amends its application by proposing to build three (Oxbow, Little Hells Canyon, Brownlee) instead of five dams. The Reclamation Bureau plans a single high dam at Hells Canyon.

● 1953 -- May 5 -- Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay (R) withdraws his Department's objections to the Idaho Power Co. applications pending before the Federal Power Commission.

July 7 -- FPC begins hearings on the application. National Hells Canyon Assn. is a chief opponent of the company's application during the lengthy hearings that end July 9, 1954.

Aug. 6 -- Idaho Power Co. applies for rapid tax writeoff on the Brownlee and Oxbow dams, but not lower Hells Canyon.

● 1955 -- July 27 -- Federal Power Commission (according to date on its decision) decides to issue Idaho Power Co. licenses to build all three dams -- Brownlee, Oxbow and lower Hells Canyon. (See Aug. 4, below)

July 28 -- Everette MacIntyre, general counsel of the House Select Committee on Small Business, asks FPC Chairman Jerome K. Kuykendall the status of the Hells Canyon case. Kuykendall replies: "The matter is before the Commission now." A few questions later he replies: "I do not think it is proper for me to discuss action on a matter that is before the Commission for decision."

Aug. 2 -- Congress adjourns after holding committee hearings on Hells Canyon proposals but without taking a vote on the issue either in the Senate or House.

Aug. 4 -- Federal Power Commission announces its July 27 decision to issue licenses to Idaho Power Co. for the Brownlee, Oxbow and Hells Canyon dams.

● 1956 -- July 19 -- Senate rejects, by a 41-51 roll-call vote, a bill (S 1333) to authorize construction of a single high dam at Hells Canyon. Eight Democrats vote with 43 Republicans against the bill: Sens. J. Allen Frear Jr. (Del.), George A. Smathers (Fla.), Richard B. Russell (Ga.), Russell B. Long (La.), James O. Eastland (Miss.), Sam J. Ervin Jr. (N.C.), Harry Flood Byrd (Va.), A. Willis Robertson (Va.). Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D Fla.) pairs with Sen. Milton R. Young (R N.D.) who favors the bill. Sen. Price Daniel (D Texas) announces against the bill. Sens. William Langer (R N.D.) and Alexander Wiley (R Wis.) cross party lines to vote for the bill.

Oct. 9 -- U.S. Court of Appeals upholds FPC's licensing of the Idaho Power Co. to build the three dams.

● 1957 -- April 1 -- U.S. Supreme Court refuses to review lower court decision. The appeal was made by the National Hells Canyon Assn., National Rural Electric Cooperative Assn. and eight Washington State public utility districts.

April 25 -- Office of Defense Mobilization grants certificates to Idaho Power Co. enabling it to deduct 65 percent of the cost of the Brownlee dam and 60 percent of the Oxbow dam in five years, instead of usual 50 years, for tax purposes. The total amount to be deducted in the five-year period is estimated at $65,206,094.

April 30 -- Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee orders a Federal Hells Canyon dam bill (S 555) reported.

May 7 -- Chairman Harry Flood Byrd (D Va.) of the Senate Finance Committee begins hearings on a bill (S 1795) to curtail the fast tax writeoff program. Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey says the "general policy" of the Eisenhower Administration would be against the fast tax writeoff granted Idaho Power Co.

May 14 -- Sen. Styles Bridges (R N.H.) quotes President Eisenhower as reaffirming his opposition to a Federal Hells Canyon dam.

May 15 -- Senate Interior and Insular Affairs Committee files Hells Canyon report (S Rept 324).

May 17 -- Chairman Estes Kefauver (D Tenn.) of the Senate Judiciary Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee begins hearings on fast tax writeoffs for industries with a guaranteed income, such as public utilities. The hearing at the outset focuses on Hells Canyon.

Eisenhower Boxscore

legislative program so far this year. A Congressional Quarterly analysis shows only 13 of the President's 198 legislative requests made in 1957 have been approved by both the House and Senate. The 6.6 percent score compares with the 13.7 percent approval score the President's program received at approximately the same mark of the first session of the 84th Congress when Mr. Eisenhower also faced a Democratic-controlled Congress. (Page 651)

Loans or Gifts

A new confidence in the credit rating of foreign governments underlies President Eisenhower's proposal for a $2 billion fund to loan money for the economic growth of backward countries. Facing skeptics who say such loans are disguised giveaways, the Administration points to a record that shows repayments on old loans have exceeded disbursements on new loans for the past three years and that less than 1/20th of 1 percent of the loans made since 1940 have been written off as uncollectible. (Page 665)

Atomic Fallout

Atomic scientists and researchers pulled no punches when they testified on fallout dangers before a Joint Atomic Energy Subcommittee. They said there could be no "absolutely clean weapon," that development of nuclear energy and production of radioactive materials were "inseparable." One expert predicted that by 1960 it would be "within enemy capabilities" to kill 82 million persons with H-bombs. (Page 657)

Funds Progress

The House passed a $33.6 billion Defense Department appropriation after restoring only $21.5 million of the nearly $2.6 billion its Appropriations Committee had cut from Administration budget requests. The House and Senate completed action on a $562.9 million appropriation for the State and Justice Departments. The final version was less than either chamber originally had voted and was $102.8 million under budget estimates. Congress also sent the President a $16 million appropriation for executive offices. (Page 675)

State Legislators

The Republican National Committee's May 20 statistical analysis of the 1956 election showed 3,219 Republican and 4,127 Democratic state legislators as a result of the 1956 elections. This compared with 3,178 Republicans and 4,122 Democrats elected in 1954. Only two states, Minnesota and Nebraska, have non-partisan legislatures, and Nebraska has the only unicameral state legislature. (Page 668)

Food Mystery

House investigators seeking to unmask the Food Bill Bandit have eliminated a trio of likely suspects but still cannot identify the real culprit. They are no longer even sure that food prices are a crime. The clues unearthed so far by a House subcommittee have convinced Chairman Victor L. Anfuso (D N.Y.) that three much-maligned characters are innocent of charges of highjacking the consumer. He said the investigation so far has established that the farmer is not responsible for the increased cost of living, and no information so far developed indicates profiteering by labor or management in the food distribution industry at the expense of the consumer. (Page 663)

Hells Canyon

Senate Democrats believe they have found a hole in the Republican dike holding back Federal development of Hells Canyon. The hole is the fast tax writeoff the Office of Defense Mobilization recently authorized on the Idaho Power Co.'s two dams in the Hells Canyon reach of the Snake River. The writeoff enables the private utility to save $30.5 million in taxes over a five-year period. Democrats have sent up a shout of "fraud, interest-free loan and theft from the taxpayers' pockets" that will keep getting louder until the upcoming vote on Hells Canyon is taken in the Senate.
